

Needham & Company to Host Second Annual Automotive Tech Day, June 4, 2018

New York, NY, June 1, 2018 -- Needham & Company will host its Second Annual Automotive Tech Day at its company's New York Headquarters on June 4, 2018. The day will consist of in-depth panel discussions and presentations on important topics, such as the growth of Advanced Driver Assistance Systems (ADAS), fully autonomous systems, and the advent of electrification and battery management in vehicles, as well as explore the insurance, regulatory, and safety implications of self-driving vehicles.

Participants will include some of the most prominent public and private C-level management teams, as well as industry experts and consultants in the automotive technology and electrification ecosystems. One-on-one investor meetings with representatives from all of the key players in the space, spanning across Semiconductor/Software companies, Automotive OEMs, Tier 1 suppliers, Battery Management suppliers, Semiconductor Manufacturing, Automotive Consultants, Ride Sharing companies, and innovative private start-ups (V2V, LIDAR, Mapping, AI SW) will be available to qualified investors.

The Needham Automotive Tech Day is open to clients of Needham & Company by invitation only. For more information, please call (212) 371-8300 or visit www.needhamco.com.
